

HAKE Scientific Name: Urophycis chuss

Hake

Merluche-écureuil

Locha

The type of hake that we use for salting is native to the cold waters of the Western Atlantic Ocean. It is a large and often thick fish, similar in size to cod and pollock, but with a distinctive color and appearance.

We offer salted bone-in split (butterfly-style) hake in a variety of different cures to suit different market requirements. We also offer hake fillets. Our hake is shipped in bulk packaging only.
